For over twelve years, Forbes' Czech edition has been mapping out the business galaxy's most successful Czech entrepreneurs, innovators and company heads. The strong infrastructure of an American publisher combined with a top-rate Czech editorial team forms the foundation for the unique know-how that lets Forbes regularly present the very best professionals from a variety of fields nationwide and worldwide. They are sharing their experience from their roads to success not only in their printed editions, but also online at forbes.cz and via events. In 2023, Forbes events expanded significantly in terms of both their contents and their capacities, and they are top-of-class within the Czech event scene.

Forbes events serve as a forum for the leaders and the elite of Czech business. They are a platform for meeting each other and sharing experiences, trends, and visions, and are also an opportunity to form and deepen business links among the attendees, speakers, and partners of these events. Last but not least, it also aims to serve – every year, Forbes organizes the biggest charity dinners in the country, with an enormous auction potential.

For 2024 Forbes has prepared several attractive event formats that aspire to reach the widest possible range of target groups. We're working on summits, discussions and social gala dinners that will bring you a chance to inspire and be inspired. The Forbes event team will work with you to prepare creative partnering content and maximize the potential of your partnership with Forbes.
